

This seminar is open to GACDL members only. If you need to join, visit www.gacdl.org and click on "join." If you need to pay your 2018 dues, please visit www.gacdl.org, log in as a member, and pay. Log in assistance is under "help." You may also call 404-248-1777.

Doug Peters would like all attendees to read their case problem "State v. Avis Stone" before the seminar. GACDL will email this to all preregistered and prepaid attendees TWO WEEKS in advance of the seminar. We recommend that you register for this seminar by Valentine's Day in order to receive your case problem two weeks in advance. Otherwise GACDL will send these materials out again with speaker materials on February 28th. Please be sure that your email address is correct online at www.gacdl.org

This seminar can sell out. To get a seat, please preregister online at www.gacdl.org. Preregistration closes at noon on February 28th. If you register by mail and we run out of seats, we will notify you. If you mail your registration the week of the seminar, we may not have time to notify you that the seminar is sold out. No cancellations after February 2. Substitutions are welcome.

The price of this seminar includes a copy of Doug Peters' Defense of the Child Molestation Case in Georgia manual, updated for 2018. Manuals will be passed out to preregistered attendees at the seminar. If we have room to accept walk-in registrations, we will have some extra manuals on hand. We cannot guarantee enough manuals for all walk-ins. If we run out of the manuals, we will ship one to you after the seminar. More copies of Doug's manual will be available to members via GACDL after the seminar.

You must register for this seminar in order to receive the speaker materials. We do not sell these, or put them on our website. The speaker materials will be emailed to all preregistered, prepaid attendees via the GACDL website on February 28th. Please be sure that your email address is correct online at www.gacdl.org. Otherwise, you may not receive these materials in advance of the seminar. Walk-ins will receive the speaker materials email during the seminar.
